COLBY DRAMATIC CLUB.

The people of Oxford, Norway and Harrison will have an opportunity this year to attend the Colby College play for the first time in history. This is due mainly to the efforts of Fred A. Pottle, Oxford High School, '13, who is president of the Club, and William W. Chute, Colby, '19. The cast is coached by H. Price Webber, the veteran actor, who is well known here. The play is "The District Attorney," a political comedy drama.

Mr. Seaburg, head of the largest packing house in Chicago, and P. Homer Sullivan, an Irish ward politician, have for years cheated the city of immense sums of money. In order to better gain their ends, they wish to elect a district attorney whom they can control. To split the vote of a formidable opponent, they nominate for the office a young ne'er-do-well, Bob Kendrick, who is "wasting another year in college merely to play football," and who is by the way, in love with Seaburg's daughter. They——but that's telling.

There are in all fifteen in the cast and coach Webber says it is the best club he has coached in years. The dates are Oxford, March 27, Norway, March 28, and Bolster's Mills, March 29. Adv.

Dr. Austin Tenney, Occulist will be at his rooms over Ridlon's Grocery, Friday the 31st. adv.

The law suit of Mary E. Linnell vs Wm. O. Frothingham, came after the horse case of Thursday. The plaintiff is the widow of Winslow W. Linnell of Magalloway Plantation. The plaintiff in the writ is the sheriff of Oxford County but has nothing to do with him as the action concerns the official act of deputy sheriff, Ernest S. Bennett of Lincoln Plantation.

The suit was brought to recover for twenty-two tons of pressed hay seized and sold at the Linnell barn in June, 1915, by Deputy Sheriff Bennett on an execution. This execution was secured in a suit brought by Frank Smith & Co. against Winslow W. Linnell and his wife, but later the action was discontinued as to Mrs. Linnell and the execution was against Mr. Linnell alone. Mrs. Linnell claimed the hay which was seized, as she held the deeds of the farm, and had paid for the harvesting.

A lot of evidence against the objections of Mr. Wright, to show that Mr. Linnell ran the farm as his own, and that acting on his representations regarding it, Frank Smith & Co. gave Mr. Linnell credit to a considerable amount. Mrs. Linnell did not make it known that she held the title to the property. At the conclusion of the evidence Judge Haley directed the jury to return a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $401.50. Exceptions are filed by the defence.

The case of Helen M. Wilson vs. Nathaniel R. Leach was to recover for eight geese and twenty-seven hens and chickens which she sold to Mr. Leach, the proprietor of the Aziscoos House at Wilson's Mills. They were sold to Mr. Leach in 1910 by Henry Bird, who was then the husband of the plaintiff and who claimed the ownership of the birds and alleged she told Mr. Leach they were her property before he delivered them. Mr. Bird, the former husband claimed to have bought more geese and hens adding to the flock and that he had as much interest in them as his wife did. A portion of the proceeds of the sale was applied to the payment of a bill which Mr. Leach had against Mr. Bird for hotel service furnished Mrs. Bird at the Umbagog House at Errol, at that time owned by Mr. Leach. Mr. Leach denied having had any notice that the fowl were claimed by the wife before the purchase was made.

The attorney were Weight for plaintiff, Blanchard for defendent. After being out about an hour, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $39.00.

As usual a "line case" was in order. In this suit, James N. Tubbs of Norway vs. Ella J. Cummings, wife of Wallace Cummings of Albany. The case is to secure possession of certain land in Albany. The ownership of the land in question depends upon the location of the westerly boundary of the northerly half of lot 10 in range 2 in the town of Albany. James S. Wright for the plaintiff, H. H. Hastings for the defendent. The case was withdrawn from the jury and settlement made between the parties.

The criminal cases were started in on Monday.

H. L. Barnett and George Sparks pled guilty to breaking, entering and larceny. Sparks also plead guilty to the charge of stealing in another case.

The indictment against Norman McInnis for larceny was filed by order of the court and approval of the County attorney. The indictment against him was for misappropriating fund of the International Brotherhood of Paper makers at Rumford. It was claimed McInnis had practically paid the amount to the organization.

Warren Cook plead guilty to the charge of robbery from Edward Fraser at Rumford last October. His indictment was ordered filed by the court with a warning by the judge.

John Chambers plead not guilty to abandoning his six children in Rumford last February.

Fred Furbish plead guilty to two charges of larceny and received a sentence to two and a half years at hard labor at the state's prison.

The trial of Patrick J. Harrington of Needham, Mass., charging him with the murder of Thomas E. Preece, a year ago last November, is in process, beginning Thursday morning and it is expected it will be finished by Saturday night. Last fall in court Harrington admitted joining Preece at Milo and riding with him towards South Paris and admitted they were together for several days and finally on a stormy night when Preece attempted to get out of the wagon, the rifle which the two men had, caught in the robe and was accidentally discharged. Preece was killed and Harrington admitted that he dragged the body out into the woods and robbed him of the $55 he had in his pocket. He denies however that he killed Preece, claiming it was accidental.

Hiram S. Steeves charged with bigamy, received the verdict of the jury as guilty. He married Jennie S. Burpee at Waterville on March 4, 1901, and without having obtained a divorce married Florence Lydia Richardson at Mexico, on June 27, 1914.

County Attorney Beliveau introduced as evidence the town record books of Waterville. These last contained entries of the marriage intentions and the marriage ceremony of the parties in question. Mrs. Steeves claimed that she had placed her certificate of marriage in Steeves' trunk, and that he had deserted her, while she was in the hospital, and had taken the trunk with him. She stated that the ceremony had been performed in the office of someone named Brown. Among the witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Ferry of Waterville. The defense called on Homer C. Frost, Lewis E. Small and N. G. Foster to prove that Steeves had not had knowledge of Mrs. Steeves' existence for seven years after the separation. Steeves was called to the stand and on direct examination contradicted the testimony of Mrs. Steeves and other State's witnesses, asserting without hesitation that there had been no marriage as charged, that he had never introduced the complainant as his wife, and that he had had no knowledge as to her existence after he had left Waterville. There was a little controversy over the entering of Steeves' father's occupation being recorded on his intentions of marriage differently.

The case was tried before a drawn jury which was composed of E. Chandler Buzzell, Fryeburg, foreman; Wm. J. Green, Waterford; Horace H. Annis, Bethel; Guy H. Boothby, Canton; Herbert S. Doe, Proter; Wm. H. Irish, Buckfield; George D. Merrill, Bethel; Walter E. Fenley, Greenwood; Arthur U. Tyler, Paris; Harry E. Lovejoy, Norway; John C. Wyman, Peru; John Elden, Oxford.

A Japanese Wedding.

More than two hundred people saw the Missionary Pantomine called a Japanese Wedding at the Congregational church on Sunday evening last. The audience that filled every seat in the house and stood in the rear of the room followed with great interest each incident in the picturesque oriental ceremony. The young people who held the affair in charge, showed much preparation in the manner in which they executed their several parts. After the voluntary, which was played by Mrs. H. L. Horne, Mrs. Edith Bartlett read the manuscript from which the ceremony was taken and named the personnel in the order in which they entered; explaining that in one important particular this wedding was dissimilar to the original, in that weddings in the east are strictly private only the immediate family attending.

At the close of Mrs. Bartlett's reading Miss Genevieve Barker went to the piano and to the strains of the Japanese National Anthem, the wedding party entered. First came the "Marriage Broker" or "go between," Miss Frances Andrews followed by the groom's parents, Mr. Philip F. Stone and Miss Mildred J. Holmes. The part of the groom was taken by Lawrence Cogswell, who entered next. After the above were seated, the bride, Miss Marion Andrews, entered behind her parents, Howard Evirs and Emogene G. Hunt. These bowed to the floor, following the oriental fashion, before the groom and his parents, and were then seated beside them. Then entered the six bride's maids: the Misses Bessie and Josephine Chase, Whitehouse, Hunt, Heath and Goldrupe. When these had bowed before the bridal party and were seated, the tea was served, in the drinking of which the marriage vows are made. At the close of the ceremony Miss Alice Barden sang a Japanese song and the Rev. Robert Bruce gave a brief historical sketch of Missions in Japan, refering especially to the work of The American Board, the society of the Congregational Church.

The success of the evening was largely due to Mrs. E. C. Murch, who coached the young people for the pantomine.

Debating a New Interest at Norway High.

In the early fall the students of Norway high school voiced a desire to have a debating club, which was favored by the school authorities, and duly formed with Miss Lougee as coach.

The following are the members of the original club: Harold Thomas, President; Paul Hosmer, Captain of the affirmative; Hugh Pendexter Jr., Captain of the negative. The question decided upon for debate was: "Resolved; That the United States should have comptilsory military training in the secondary schools." Those upholding the negative were Hugh Pendexter Jr., Howard Chick, Peter Klain, Leslie Gibson, Otis N. Jones and Howard Evirs. The affirmative were Paul Hosmer, Albert Bartlett, Arthur Bartlett, Roland McCormick and Harold Thomas. After several meetings, and a debate or two, with rising enthusiasm, Miss Lougee was successful in arranging for the admittance of Norway High into the Bates Triangle Interscholastic Debating League, with Jordan High of Lewiston and Leavitt's Institute of Turner. The question chosen by the Bates debating council was as formerly stated.

This debating has met with great success under the direction of Miss Lougee, although there is no debating course in the school curriculum, and the work has to be done entirely outside of school. The members are meeting the task with pleasure. There promises to be some very interesting debates in the future, and we heartily wish all to be present that may. The dates will appear in this paper.

The final debating team which will debate in the league was chosen after the semi-finals at the High School building Friday, March 17, as follows: Harold Thomas, President; Leslie Gibson, Captain of the negative; and Hugh Pendexter, Captain of the affirmative. The negative are: Max Noyes, Leslie Gibson, Harold Thomas; alternate, Howard Chick. The affirmative are Hugh Pendexter Jr., Arthur Bartlett, Roland McCormick; alternate, Howard Evirs.

Loyal Order of Moose.

The Loyal Order of Moose of Norway, Lodge No. 1614, met Friday evening, March 17, at Woodman Hall and enjoyed a very interesting meeting. About 60 members were present. The team in charge of Edward Sharon, Degree Master; H. A. Richardson, Sergeant-at-arms, for the first time conferred the work on candidates, which was impressive. After the work, supper was served and enjoyed by all. This order is fast growing, having recently initiated 10 new members with six more applications already in the hands of the Investigating Committee.

Oxford Council, No. 14, Royal and Select Masters will hold their annual assembly at Mason's Hall, Friday, March 24 at 7:30 p. m. The business will include the reading of reports, election of officers, and committee of finance and the collection of dues. There will also be work followed by the serving of refreshments.

Lewis Cook, who is working in Auburn, spent Sunday with his father, F. J. Cook.

Atherton Furniture Company.

The Atherton Furniture Company, having completed the deal with C. B. Cummings & Sons, mentioned in a former issue of this paper, took possession of the furniture, stock and building, Tuesday. The store and business will be in charge of Mr. Randall O. Porter, who has managed the Company's store in Norway for nearly five years. He is a very capable and trustworthy young man, who has largely increased the business here since he has been with the company. For eight years prior to his engagement he was a clerk in the store of Mr. Henry B. Foster, where he made hosts of friends. He is one of the smartest and most reliable of the younger business men of this section.

The Atherton Furniture Company does an immense business through its two large wholesale stores, one of which is located at Lewiston, from which the Norway store will be supplied with goods and the 17 other stores under its control. The new store is opposite the printing office, and is one of the best places for trade in the village.

C. B. Cummings started in the furniture business in Norway more than 50 years ago and it is with regret that we hear that they are to retire from that branch of business. Fifty years of successful business has won the respect of every citizen in Norway and we wish them the best of success in their rapidly growing lumber industry.

C. B. Cummings & Sons will have a temporary office in the Bartlett store opposite the Elm House, but will later in the season build on its own land.

A Farewell Reception.

The following is a clipping from "The Boston Globe," a notice of Prof. Chas. P. Durell, a former pupil and graduate of Norway High school.

In Grand Army Hall the Hingham, Mass., Teachers' Club gave a farewell reception to Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Durell. Mr. Durell, after a service of nine years as headmaster in the Center and Lincoln Schools, has resigned to accept a position in Watertown. The superintendent of schools and the members of the School Committee, with their wives, were present.

The High school orchestra, 12 pieces, directed by Miss Ethel Studley, rendered varied selections. "Local and Long-Distance Telephone," a comedy in one act, was enacted, an original poem of appreciation, and tenor songs were sung. Refreshments were served and the affair closed with dancing.

During the evening Mr. Durrell was presented a silver cup, suitably inscribed, from the teachers of the Lincoln School, where Mr. Durrell has been headmaster since 1913. The presentation speech was made by Superintendent of schools.

Both men are well known breeders and should be able to advance some valuable opinions.

After a dinner at the Grange hall, J. W. Prentiss of Halstead, N. H., will address the association. Mr. Prentiss is an extensive breeder of Holstein cattle, Percheron horses and Berkshire swine.

State Dairy Inspector J. H. Blanchard will be in attendance at all three meetings and will take an active part in the programs.

Hens Made Good Showing.

One of Norway's extensive poultry raisers, Robert Schenk, sent five of his S. C. R. I. Reds to Orono during Farmers' Week, which was held March 3rd to 9th. They were entered in the utility and egg laying contest and won fourth prize, which is very good considering that there were only six points between them and the first prize. They layed 16 eggs out of a possible 35 and were only three eggs behind the winners. The weight of the five birds was 25.9 lbs. The total score was 52.45.

11th Annual Junior Exhibition.

The 11th Annual Junior Exhibition was given at the Opera House, Tuesday evening, March 21, before a good-sized audience. The exhibition, which has heretofore been chosen speakers of the Junior Class, was changed this year and a drama given entitled "The Ladies of Cranford."

The curtain arose showing a room of Miss Matilda Jenkyn's home (Virginia Mixer) furnished with old-fashioned furniture, of chairs, table and melodian, and Bessie Pottle as "Mary Smith" and Esther Pike as "Jessie Brown," as guests, knitting and telling what a pleasant place Cranford was. Soon Miss Matilda arrives and tells Miss Mary of her lost love and her brother Peter who had gone away from home and never been heard from.

Mrs. Forrester (Frances Bartlett), Miss Barker (Florence Russell), Miss Pole (Mary Gammon) and Mrs. Purkis (Emogene Hunt) drop in to welcome Miss Mary and for a social talk. While there they tell Miss Matilda of the bank's failure and learn that she loses practically all her income. As a result, Miss Matilda has a license to sell tea and seems to prosper. Martha (Leona Sloan) helps Miss Matilda care for the house and ends in getting married, and Mildred Noyes as "Peggie" takes her place.

Miss Baker has a card party and invites them all to come, also the Hon. Mrs. Jamieson (Katherine Jones) who comes with her dog Carlo. After serving a treat, of which all partook but Mrs. Jamieson, as it was not to her liking, as she said she had dined. On being passed seed cakes she said she would take one but they always reminded her of scented soap. She then asked for a saucer and cream for the dog, which was thought to be a great extravagance by the rest. When they gathered to play cards they found the Hon. Mrs. Jamieson fast asleep with loud snores issuing from her direction. At last she awakes, the card party breaks up and she returns home. The rest of the party were getting ready to go, when Martha rushes in and tells Miss Matilda that her brother has returned and she hastens home.

After all had departed Miss Barker declares her party a big success.

The parts were very well taken and each was costumed in old-fashioned clothes.

After the drama a sort of pantomime was given by Esther Pike, followed by tumbling by Haliburton Crandlemire, Merle Russell, David Klain and Paul Hosmer and flying rings on which performed Merle Russell, Haliburton Crandlemire and Arthur Descoteau, which was very interesting and much applauded.

The report of the condition of the bank as it existed at the close of business March 18, 1916, was read by the Treasurer and accepted. It showed a deposit of $587,533.67, a slight increase over last year. The reserve has increased $3,000 during the year to $27,000.

The total number of depositors, March 18, 1916, was 3052, showing a net increase of 31 depositors for the year.

This meeting is to be held the second and fourth Saturdays of the month, Mrs. Grace Dunn, leader.

A very interesting talk was given the boys and girls, pertaining to the suggestions he would be able to give them in his official capacity "as general supervisor of Oxford County."

Rev. D. A. Ball, leader of the Boys' Sweet Corn Club at West Paris, gave a short talk. The Lecturer then presented a short program: St. Patrick's Day clog, violin, A. M. Dunham; piano duet, Adeline DeCoster and Miss Foster, encore; reading, Ora Howe, encore; song, Plow, Spade and Hoe, Grange chorus; Prof. Morse, leader of South Paris Boys' Sweet Corn Club, spoke of women's suffrage and then gave a reading pertinent to the topic, (encore); Prof. Mitchell told a story and—yes, they all had a good time at the "Old Folks Ball" in spite of wind and drifting snow.

Fruit Growers Met.

A fruit growers' conference was held at Grange Hall, Tuesday, March 21st. The object of the conference was to talk over problems relative to fruit growing and to try to assist in the situation of these problems. A big dissappointment has come to many who held over their apples as the prices did not hold up on account of being unable to ship them.

Among the speakers were Wilson H. Conant, the president of the Oxford Bears Fruit Growers' Association, who spoke on some of the factors which cause the annual bearing of apples in the orchards.

H. L. Keyser, the former president of the Pomoligical society spoke on marketing and H. P. Sweetser on how to do the prunning.

Prof. G. A. Yeaton spoke at some length in growing small fruits for profit. The meeting was a profitable one for all who attended.

Universalist Circle will hold a ten cent social at the home of Mrs. F. H. Beck, Thursday, March 30, 1916.

Ernest B. Jackson has purchased a large cash register registering $99.99. This is one of the latest machines of the National Cash Register Co.

The Eastern Star will have a fifteen-cent covered dish supper at the K. of P. Hall, next Tuesday evening, March 28, at 6:45 p. m. All members who have not been solicited are expected to bring pastry, scallops or a "surprise" in a covered dish. All Star members and their husbands are invited. There will be work in the Chapter after the meeting following the supper.

It is understood that Frank L. Starbird has sold 60 feet of his stable to Freeland Howe Jr. Mr. Howe has not made it public what his intentions are in regard to the same, but says he has heard he was to use it for moving pictures, a dance hall, a livery stable, or was to let rooms.

Mrs. Elmer Morrill and daughter Margaret are visiting for a few days at G. F. Stone's on Main street.

NO REASON FOR IT

When Norway Citizens Show a Way.

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills, will fail to heed the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what a Norway citizen says:

S. C. Foster, barber, Main St., Norway, says: "I was troubled by kidney complaint some years ago and I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Stone's Drug Store. A couple of boxes gave me relief."

Three years later, Mr. Foster said: "I use Doan's Kidney Pills now and then and they keep my kidneys in excellent condition."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Foster had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. 11-12

THE SONG OF THE CAMP.

"Give us a song!" the soldiers cried,
The outer trenches guarding,
When the heated guns of the camps allied
Grew weary of bombarding.

The dark Redan, in silent scoff,
Lay, grim and threatening, under:
And the tawny mound of the Malakoff
No longer belched its thunder.

There was a pause. A guardsman said:
"We storm the forts to-morrow;
Sing while we may, another day
Will bring enough of sorrow."

They lay along the battery's side,
Below the smoking cannon:
Brave hearts from Severn and from Clyde,
And from the banks of Shannon.

They sang of love, and not of fame,
Forgot was Britain's glory;
Each heart recalled a different name,
But all sang "Annie Lawrie."

Voice after voice caught up the song,
Until its tender passion
Rose like an anthem rich and strong,
Their battle-eve confession.

Dear girl, her name he dared not speak,
But as the song grew louder,
Something upon the soldier's cheek
Washed off the stains of powder.

Beyond the darkening ocean burned
The bloody sunset's embers,
While the Crimean valleys learned
How English love remembers.

And once again a fire of hell
Rained on the Russian quarters,
With scream of shot, and burst of shell,
And bellowing of the mortars.

And Irish Nora's eyes are dim
For a singer dumb and gory;
And English Mary mourns for him
Who sang of "Annie Lawrie."

Sleep, soldiers! still in honored rest
Your truth and valor wearing;
The bravest are the tenderest.—
The loving are the daring.

THE TWO SPRUCE TREES

Upon a mountain, side by side,
Two friendly spruces stood.
And one was tall and filled with pride—
The monarch of the wood.

The other was a lowly tree,
Not more than six feet high,
And other spruces laughed to see
Its struggle towards the sky.

The monarch from his dizzy height
Would shout, "Why don't you grow!"
Alas, a tempest came one night
And laid the monarch low.

While by and by a woodsman came,
Who whistles merrily,
And gave the little spruce a name,
And called it "Christmas Tree."

And bore it to a house of light,
Where, gaudily arrayed,
The spruce became a royal sight
By children's eyes surveyed.

And Christmas joy it brought to all,
And as the hours went by
'Twas glad for having grown so small
And was content to die.

THE HOME BOOSTER

If you like the old town best,
Help her grow!
If you'd have her lead the rest,
Tell 'em so!

When there's anything to do
Let the fellows count on you;
You'll feel bully when you're through
Don't you know.

If you want to make a hit,
Get a name
If the other fellow's it,
Who's to blame!

Spend the money in the town,
Where you pull the shekels down;
Give the mail concern a frown—
That's the game!

If you're used to giving knocks,
Change your style!
Throw bouquets instead of rocks
For awhile.

Let the other fellow roast;
Shun him as you would a ghost;
Meet his hammer with a boast
And a smile.

When a stranger from afar
Comes along,
Tell him who and what we are—
Make it strong.
Needn't flatter, never bluff;
Tell the truth, for that's enough,
Join the boosters—they're the stuff.

Suits Made-to-Order

No doubt you buy ready-made suits because the price of tailor-made clothing is too high. If we can show you that your price will buy a tailor-made suit of good material, high grade workmanship and made especially to suit your needs, won't you be interested?

We've been studying for a long time how to combine the two problems — tailor-made suits and reasonable prices.

THE ROYAL TAILORS

have solved the problem. There is nothing wasteful in their shop. The cloth is cut to fit you—no waste; the tailors do their best work without any rush—no hurried work that has to be done over; they buy so carefully that they are not left with useless stock on their hands. All this is economy; the result is our low prices.

The shoulders of the ready-made clothing is nearly all padding that must mould itself to your shape. Stretch your arm and the mould stays behind, showing two graceless shoulder shapes. The mould will show wrinkles, too, even when you're standing still. Compare with a suit made by The Royal Tailors. Notice the flat-lying collar, the handsome shoulders. The dressy fall from the front of the shoulders is an effect that a ready made suit can never have. All this is done by stitching with a minimum of padding, so you will know that a Royal Tailors' suit can't lose its shape.

Come in and see our showing of high grade Worsteds, Tweeds and Serges. You'll get the latest and most becoming styles. Suits will be made to your order by highly paid tailors.

RECORDS OF THE WAR BETWEEN THE STATES.

By Marcus J. Wright, Brigadier-General C. S. A. Agent of the United States War Department for the Collection of Military Records.

The war which was carried on in the United States in 1861-5, called "The War of the Rebellion," "The Civil War," "The War of Secession," and "The War Between the States," was one of the greatest conflicts of ancient or modern times. Official reports show that 2,605,028 men were mustered into the service of the United States. The report of Provost-Marshall General Fry shows that of these 31,362 were killed in battle, 34,733 died of wounds, 183,287 died of disease, 306 were accidentally killed, and 267 were executed by sentence. The Adjutant-General made a report February 7, 1869, showing the total number of deaths to be 303,504.

The Confederate forces are estimated from 600,000 to 1,000,000 men, and ever since the conclusion of the war there has been no little controversy as to the total number of troops involved. The losses in the Confederate army have never been officially reported, but the United States War Department, which has been assiduously engaged in collecting all records of both armies, has many Confederate muster-rolls on which the casualties are recorded. The tabulation of these rolls shows that 52,954 Confederate soldiers were killed in action, 21,570 died of wounds, and 59,297 died of disease. This does not include the missing muster-rolls, so that to these figures a substantial percentage must be added. Difference in methods of reporting the strength of commands, the absence of adequate field-records and the destruction of those actually made are responsible for considerable lack of information as to the strength and losses of the Confederate army. Therefore, the matter is involved in considerable controversy, and never will be settled satisfactorily, for there is no probability that further data on this subject will be forthcoming.

The immensity and extent of our great Civil War are shown by the fact that there were fought 2,261 battles and engagements, which took place in the following named States: New York 1; Pennsylvania, 9; Maryland, 30; District of Columbia, 1; West Virginia, 80; Virginia, 519; North Carolina, 85; South Carolina, 60; Georgia, 108; Florida, 32; Alabama, 78; Mississippi, 186; Louisiana, 118; Texas, 14; Arkansas, 167; Tennessee, 298; Kentucky, 138; Ohio, 3; Indiana, 4; Illinois, 1; Missouri, 244; Minnesota, 6; California, 6; Kansas, 7; Oregon, 4; Nevada, 2; Washington Territory, 1; Utah, 1; New Mexico, 19; Nebraska, 2; Colorado, 4; Indian Territory, 17; Dakota, 11; Arizona, 4; and Idaho, 1.

It soon became evident that the official record of the War of 1861-5 must be compiled for the purposes of Government administration, as well as in the interest of history, and this work was projected near the close of the first administration of President Lincoln. It has continued during the tenure of succeeding Presidents, under the direction of the Secretaries of War, from Edwin M. Stanton, under whom it began, to Secretary Elihu Root, under whose direction it was completed.

OXFORD

"Dr. Glover's All America Show" which is wintering in the Doctor's stable at Oxford, met with a loss when the four raccoons under the lead of the redoubtable "Buster" broke loose and raided the guinea pig department killing six choice breeding pigs. Luckily the Angora pigs had been removed to other quarters a few days before and so escaped the slaughter. "Buster" eluded being caught for a while in the stable loft, but the other three offenders were caught at once.

Husband and Wife Both Saved From Suffering

I wish to tell you the good results myself and husband received from Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. About eleven years ago I had a severe attack of La Grippe and was confined to my bed about eight weeks under the doctor's care. He pronounced my case kidney trouble and rheumatism and not receiving the results from the doctor's treatment I should have received, I decided to try Swamp-Root. After taking several bottles of Swamp-Root I was able to get up and attend to my work. About a year later my husband was affected with a severe attack of kidney trouble and doctored for some time with the doctors and received no benefit. Knowing of the good I had received, he decided to try Swamp-Root. His condition was such that he was confined to his bed and words cannot tell how he suffered, but after taking Swamp-Root he was relieved so he could go on with his work without pain. I wish to heartily recommend Swamp-Root to all persons afflicted with kidney and bladder troubles and you may publish this letter if you wish.

GEN NEAL DOW'S BIRTHDAY.

Pleasing Reminiscences of the Veteran Patriot, Philanthropist and Statesman of Maine.

It being Gen. Dow's birthday, and much interest being manifested in regard to that grand old man, it occurred to me to send you the following incidents relating to him, which took place in Libby prison in the fall of 1863 or the winter of 1864 (the exact date I cannot give), under the observation of the writer.

Gen. Dow, having been captured in the South, was first confined in Mobile for a time and then transferred to Libby. It was always the case that when newly captured prisoners (fresh-fish) were brought in they had to give up all they knew about the progress of the war. So upon Gen. Dow's arrival it was arranged that he should speak to all the prisoners in mass meeting, assembled in the upper middle room at a certain time, upon the progress of the war in the department in which he had been serving. When the appointed time arrived, nearly all were on hand, and as it was known that the prison officials would not allow a meeting to be held for this purpose, sentinels were placed in the lower rooms to give warning if an officer should appear. Gen. Dow began his discourse; but it was not long before the danger signal was given and soon a rebel officer made his appearance in the room. He listened attentively until he comprehended the theme under consideration, then turned and went down stairs. But what he had listened to was a temperance lecture! When Gen. Dow received the signal he changed, without changing his attitude or his voice, from the subject of war to that of temperance, without being in the least disturbed or disconcerted, and he treated the subject in an eloquent, interesting and instructive manner. In his audience of ten or twelve hundred men there was not the least sign, by look or movement, that could convey to the rebel officer any idea that all was not what it seemed to be. After it had been reported that the officer had left the prison rooms, Gen. Dow resumed his original subject and concluded without further interruption.

Another incident will show the independence and manliness of Gen. Dow. Gen. E. P. Scammon, captured in West Virginia, was a prisoner with us. The prison officials made a small room off the corner of one of the large rooms and put a cot in it for Gen. Sammon's use. They offered Gen. Dow the same accommodations, which he refused. He would not ask or receive from the enemy favors that were not enjoyed by all. He said that he would remain with "the boys" and sleep on the floor, which he did.

The General, in company with the majority of us, was the possessor of but one shirt—a red flannel, which from long service and frequent washings had become short at both ends and worn thin at the elbows and in a certain other part. He made it part of his everyday business to keep the value of that shirt as near par as possible by darning the worn parts with white yarn. Often have I seen him sitting on the floor with a blanket over his shoulders patiently working at that old shirt, and I noticed that it was done systematically and well, like all work that he undertook to do.

The room in which we were quartered was directly over the hospital room where many of our poor fellows lay sick and for their sake we used to try and make as little noise as possible. One day an officer was making a great disturbance and noise, for the fun of the thing, and when Gen. Dow remonstrated with him he became angry and abusive and appeared to be inclined to offer personal violence. Gen. Dow did not care a little bit, but stood his ground and gave him a lecture in very plain and vigorous language, characterizing his conduct as unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. Several Maineites stood ready to take care of Gen. Dow if the officer attempted any violence, but Gen. Dow was not aware of that fact.

I have always been an admirer of Gen. Dow since old "Maine Law" times, when I was a youth running wild in Maine, and these incidents had the effect of strengthening that admiration for his steadfast character, his courage to attack wrong and his encouragement of whatever was right.

LOWELL ANIMAL FERTILIZERS

To Progressive Farmers:

Due to the great European war, there is practically no potash in this country available for agricultural purposes. This scarcity makes those commercial fertilizers which depend on potash far too expensive for the majority of farmers.

Extensive experiments have been carried on by the Lowell Fertilizer Co. in conjunction with farm experts. The results have proven that larger amounts of organic ammonia and phosphoric acid than are ordinarily used will practically act in the place of potash!

We have made fertilizers from nature's own prescription—animal matter, consisting of Bone, Blood and Meat. These fertilizers have been tested, and in every instance they have proven that good crops can be grown without the added expense of potash.

Read this letter from a progressive farmer who has tried the Animal Fertilizer on his farm:

"In regard to fertilizers without potash, I used the three kinds you sent me, with good results. They were compared with a few tons of last year's goods containing 8 per cent. potash. These I planted in plots throughout the field, a ton or so in the plot, and when I dug my potatoes, I could see very little difference in the yield. I shall probably use 30 or 40 tons of your fertilizer next year, and if I cannot get potash at a fair price, will use without potash.

E. J. PARKER. Patten, Maine."

You can make your crops good without paying abnormal prices for potash. See your nearest Lowell dealer or address

HOW CAN WE MAKE OUR CHURCH A GREATER BLESSING TO THE COMMUNITY?

By Mrs. Fannie Wight.

Observing the construction of the sentence the words "greater blessing" attracted attention. It occurred to me to analyze the question to suit myself, to find out just what are the possibilities of solving it, viewing it in different lights or at different angles.

The comparative degree of the adjective implies that with present day conditions favorable and unfavorable, the church as an institution bearing the gospel message, is a great blessing to humanity. And who in the face of all the convincing evidence from far and near can for a moment be pessimistic enough or dishonest enough to deny the fact? It would seem that only unfortunate and inexcusable ignorance could be the explanation for a negative view.

Each church has its own peculiar local conditions and these conditions must be considered and dealt with. With our own we are all familiar. Among these conditions may be mentioned a small population in the immediate vicinity of the church, the remainder within our limits widely scattered and at a distance perhaps not conducive to getting out to Sabbath worship, and a comparatively large number of social clubs and secret societies, which seem to demand more or less attention from the same set of individuals.

It often seems that the church is the last and least to receive any consideration when by the divine right of its ancient and holy origin and by the right of its incontestable virtue as a civilizing influence it should be first and greatest in our thoughts and plans and the center of all our activities as a community.

If we inquire into the meaning of the pronoun "we" to whom does "we" infer?" Our interpretation of the meaning makes a vast difference in the solution of the question. Who are "we?" Only those who have taken vows of the church? Does it refer merely to those person who usually compose the congregation or the citizens of the community as a whole?

In offering these suggestions I shall venture that though the burden of making the church counts for the greatest good rest upon its members, yet all persons who employ its offices, or who are interested for a high standard of living or who in any way recognize it benign influence have a duty in sharing the burden.

If we behead the sentence we are confronted with the question, "Can we make our church a greater blessing in the community?" This is easily answered in the affirmative, for few if any would dare affirm that they as individuals are doing all in their power to "advance the cause of the Kingdom."

If we as individuals can enlarge our powers for efficiency in church work, then surely the sum of the increased efficiency of several must result in a greater blessing to the community. Then how can we accomplish it, this greater blessing?

First, I should say, the church must be brought into greater prominence, it must do something to bring it into the minds of the people and keep it before the minds of the people. The services should constantly be made attractive. Something in church sociability should be engaged in though at the expense, even the cutting out of minor social duties.

The cry is heard on all sides "The young people must be reached." With that sentiment I fully agree. Then make that one object of special endeavor. Little is gained by compelling attendance at church or Sunday school. Hold out something interesting, entertaining, pure and wholesome, and be careful that no stumbling blocks are thoughtlessly placed in their way.

In my opinion a strong move toward increasing the influence of our church would be the acquirement of a vestry with serving conveniences, where in addition to devotional services the social life of the church would be promoted, making a more complete church home. Get the unquestioned good will of the young people and the chances are much better for a voluntary yielding to the influence to attend church and Sunday school.

If any one is inclined to comment mentally, "Suggest something within the realm of possibility," it might be well for him to imbibe something of the spirit of the individual portrayed in these lines:

"We" as members in addition to the ordinary church duties that fall to us, should be ready to sacrifice our time, our strength and our wills for whatever seems best for the greatest number. We should attend strictly to self-searching, aim to be more watchful, more prayerful, striving to eradicate our own besetting sins, and refraining from throwing stones at our neighbors, (for all of us live in glass houses), remember that though our own faults may differ from those of our neighbors, they are none the less grievous to the Great Searcher of hearts.

"We," as citizens, with the welfare of our community at heart and who are perhaps somewhat concerned because, as we think, the church is not fulfilling its mission, would find a blessing already realized to ourselves not only by rendering liberal financial aid, but by lending the cheer of our presence in God's house thus sanctioning, not the lives of the church members, nor the particular creed of the church, nor the pastor, who preaches, though giving renewed courage, strength, and inspiration to God's servant to give his best self to His cause; but sanctioning the worship of God and ourselves worshiping our God and Christ to whom all honor is due and without whom life would be a colorless picture, a vast desert.

Then if "we" as members and "we" as citizens would combine forces and set apart the best that is in us for the church, keeping other social demands in the background, I feel quite sure that we would find our lives would be full to satisfaction with the things that are most worth while and we would be realizing the greater blessings for ourselves and eventually for the whole community.

Let us remember these lines and apply them, whether to the things of God, the church or our friends.

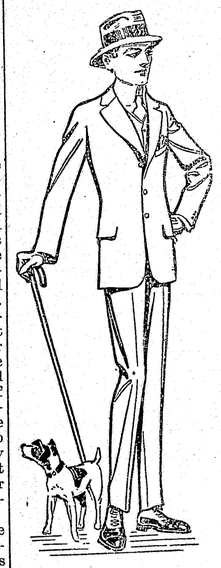

"If you have faith, preach it; if you have doubts, bury them; if you have joy share it."

Bolster's Mills, Me.

Compton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitney, Mrs. Canfield, Mrs. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Butler, attended the Cumberland and Androscoggin Union Pomona, at West Poland, Tuesday, March 14.

The Parent-Teachers' Association of the town of Casco, Otisfield and Poland, which was to have been held March 15, was postponed on account of the snowstorm.

The many friends of Allie Tenney and Hazel Tenney who have been pupils of Casco High School, extend their sympathy to them in the sudden death of their father by the bursting of the fly-wheel in the saw-mill at Webb's Mills. A beautiful floral pillow with "C. H. S." was one of the tributes sent the family for the funeral services.

Casco Grange No. 67, met at the Grange Hall, Casco Village, Saturday evening, March 18, with an attendance far beyond the expectancy of anyone. Those received into the Grange were Messrs. Frank Harmon, Louis Chute and George Burgess Jr., the Misses Ida Harmon, Catherine Bennett and Idella Watkins.

At the close of the winter term of the Casco High School the following class parts were given out by the Principal, Elmer Bigger and his assistant, Mona Garcelon:

Valedictory	Bertha Tenney
Salutatory	Marjory Hanscom
Class Poem	Mildred Harmon
Class History	Bessie Jewett
Presentation of gifts	Raymond Libby
Class Prophecy	Guy Lord
Class Oration	Lawrence Hanscom
Presentation of gifts to school,	George Burgess

Bertha Tenney had the highest standing in the class. Miss Hanscom and Miss Harmon had equal rank and Miss Harmon being particularly adapted to making poetry, the Salutatory was given to Miss Hanscom and the Class Poem to Miss Harmon.

The other members of the class are: Eula Brackett, Doris Elder, Lizzie Fickett, Stella Scribner, Robert Briggs and Melvin Shaw, making a class of fourteen graduates.

Mayberry Hill.

Lawrence Libby, who has been working in Erie, Pa., is stopping at C. O. Scribner's.

Mrs. R. W. Savage, who has been suffering with abscesses in her ear, is some better.

The pupils, who attend Casco high school, are enjoying a two weeks' vacation.

Raymond Brackett has finished his work at Oxford and at present is stopping at I. P. Fickett's.

Mrs. H. D. Fickett is on the sick list.

Arthur Jordan has been hauling hay for R. W. Savage.

Dental Room for Animals.

"In order that the teeth of domestic pets may be given proper attention, a dental department has of late been established in the Angell Memorial Hospital, a Boston institution for the medical and surgical treatment of dumb animals," says the April Popular Mechanics Magazine. "Dogs, cats and other animals are cared for by experienced practitioners who work upon them with almost as much care as if they were human. Even to many admirers of dogs, the thought of giving attention to an animal's teeth may possibly seem odd Yet the importance of doing so is very apparent to anyone who realizes the close connection between good teeth and good health. So far the dental work has been confined chiefly to cleaning teeth, treating infected gums and extracting, now and then, a decayed tooth. The department, however, is well equipped with instruments, and it is understood that other work will also be undertaken."

WORMS--A DANGER TO CHILDREN

No gain in a child's health and strength is possible until all worms are removed. Signs of worms are: Deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on the tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever. If you see any of these symptoms in your child don't lose another minute, but get a bottle of Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller.

OUR WESTERN TRIP.

By Mrs. A. R. Clark, Bolster's Mills.

It was late on the afternoon of November 2 that we left Salt Lake City for Los Angeles, a distance of seven hundred eighty-four miles. I was awake several times during the night and on looking out of the window could see the out-line of high mountains.

When we awoke in the morning, November 3, we had just passed from Nevada into the state of California. At Cima, California, the second engine was taken off and on a run of eighteen miles made a drop of two thousand feet.

The arid desert of Nevada was continued into California for some distance. We passed through a few small settlements, right out in the desert, and saw green grass, trees and flowers around the homes. It did ous eyes good to see something green and pretty once more. It is said that the desert soil is very fertile and only requires irrigation to make it yield as if by magic.

While the engine was being changed at Yermo, California, we seized the opportunity as we often did on our journey, and got out of the car for a breath of fresh air. It was very warm, much warmer than many of our summer days in the East. From here we began to climb the Sierra Nevada Mountains, through what is known as Cajon Pass. After we had passed through the mountains, we entered a land so entirely different. We had left the deserts of sand, tufted with sage-brush and towering cati, then the mountains so high above us on either side, for the glorious country of California, made beautiful with flowers.

In the distance we saw the foot hills of the San Bernardino Mountains and soon crossed the range itself. Then we passed many pretty villages and in a short time came to the city of San Bernardino, a beautiful town of flowers, orange and lemon trees, palm and pepper trees, wide streets and pretty homes. This city is the shipping point of a great fruit region.

Mile after mile we rode through large citrus groves and beautiful cities, whose streets were lined with palm and pepper trees, green grass, flowers, ferns, hedges and vines all about the homes. At one place we passed a large field of grapes, eight thousand acres, the conductor told us; at Pomona, a ten acre field of cultivated roses of many colors.

Late in the afternoon, we arrived at Los Angeles, a splendid city and said to be the best lighted city in the world.

After a good night's rest, we were ready to see the beauties of Los Angeles and the country around. We walked about the city for a time then sat down in a beautiful park, where hundreds of people were. We were very glad to get in the shade and sit down near a large fountain, where many doves were flitting about. After a time, we procured a sight-seeing car and went to Pasadena, a ride of twenty miles or more, over wide, macadamized roads. It was the most delightful and beautiful ride I ever had the pleasure of taking. There was a guide explaining everything along the way and pointing out all important places. In due time, we reached Pasadena, a home of multi-millionaires and their castles, and has been called one of the most beautiful cities in the entire world. We went through the famous Orange Grove Avenue, the home of more wealth than any other street or avenue in the world, (it is said). Thence we proceeded to the famous Busch Gardens, indescribably beautiful. I think our guide told us there were fourteen hundred acres in them, the largest gardens in the world owned by one individual. There were cement and gravel walks and walks of natural stone all about; and on either side flowers of every kind, from foreign countries as well as our own. Also there were all kinds of trees and fruits that grow in semi-tropical countries. In this immense garden was a natural sunken garden, and an old English wind mill, and many, many other things of interest. We spent some time in this "Garden of Eden," then hastened on.

We were much interested in the "Cawston Ostrich Farm," at South Pasadena. It was surrounded by live oaks, palms, flowers and orange trees. There were thousands of birds of all ages and sizes, weighing up to three hundred pounds, and eggs weighing three pounds. Indeed it was a strange sight to me. I will only mention visiting the crocodile farm, where a big business is carried on raising crocodiles. The owner of the farm showed us many curious things concerning his flock.

We returned to Los Angeles another route but just as beautiful.

On the afternoon of November 5, we left for San Diego. The ride all along the way was lovely. Part of the distance the train ran through a very productive valley and pretty towns then close by the Pacific Ocean, with high and rugged bluffs on the other side. We were about three and one-half hours going down to San Diego, arriving there after dark in a pouring rain. Several said this was the first rain they had had for eight months. The next morning was pleasant and warm. After getting our breakfast, we walked down to the ocean-side, where we saw an air ship just landed. We went into the Chamber of Commerce, in which all the resources of the state were exhibited, a grand sight. After that we took a car and went to the Panama-California Exposition grounds, beautiful beyond description. The site selected for this exposition was on a great mesa, in Balboa Park, which overlooks the harbor, Point Lorna and light house, the islands of Coronado and the ocean, comprising a magnificent view. Balboa Park, one of the city parks, was a fourteen hundred acre tract of rolling ground, broken here and there by canons. The slopes of the canons were filled with large palms and ferns brought from foreign countries. Acacias in all varieties, tall eucalyptus, grevilleas, peppers, firs, cypress and other ornamental trees innumerable, were here assembled. Then there were all the fruit bearing trees and flowers in great profusion.

The main entrance to the grounds was approached by a reinforced concrete bridge of seven arches spanning Cabrillo Canon, one thousand feet in length, composing the chief architectual feature.

The architecture was all of one type, the Spanish Colonial. The lawns, the broad gardens overhanging the canons, and the quiet places within the mission structures, were laid out in Spanish design. San Diego had traditions to maintain, hence the use of the Spanish idea.

Many of the Western states had separate buildings with splendid display. Also each county of California, with their spacious buildings had grand exhibits. Many European countries were well represented by fine buildings and exhibits.

We were much interested in the "Model Farm," a beautiful tract of five acres where all sorts of fruits and vegetables were raised as well as poultry. In the center was the model bungalow, with beautiful flowers, trees, and vines in and around the lawn. This bungalow showed and proved how much drudgery has been removed from the old-time farm-wife, by helpful and up-to-date conveniences.

Nearby was the Lipton Tea Plantation where the first attempt to raise tea on this continent was being tried. It is said the result is encouraging.

After we had travelled around for some time and seen many interesting and wonderful things, we sat down and listened to the Kilties, a band of Canadians. Organ recitals were enjoyed each afternoon and evening. Other concerts were given daily by the Exhibition Band, by the U. S. Marine Band and by visiting bands. John D. Spreckles gave a fine organ, which, with the enclosing colonade cost one hundred thousand dollars, one of the permanent adornments of Balboa Park. Many of the principal structures were also planned for auditoriums, art galleries, museums and instructive collections after the exposition closes.

This Exposition which opened January 1, 1915, was to close December 31, 1915, but before we left the West it was decided to continue it another year. After the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco closed, December 4, 1915, many of the exhibits were taken down to San Diego.

It has been said that one of the prime objects of this Exposition was to show in comprehensive form to the tourist from other sections, exactly what the great American West has to offer in the way of opportunity, as to agriculture and other industries as well as the most majestic scenery the world knows.

The next day, November 7, being Sunday, we attended church both afternoon and evening.

Monday morning, November 8, we took a sight-seeing trip, by automobile down the coast to Ti Juana, Mexico, then back another route up a peninsular, called the "Silver Strand," seven miles long, to Coronado a most beautiful residential section on the point. This suburb of San Diego is especially famed for the Hotel del Coronado, one of the largest and most famous resort hotels of America, open all the year. It covers about five acres of ground, is within a stone's throw of the beach, and is almost entirely surrounded by beautifully parked grounds of semi-tropical shrubbery. From here we crossed by ferry San Diego Bay to San Diego.

In the afternoon we took another beautiful sight-seeing trip to Point Lorna, Sunset Cliffs and small villages. The out-look from Point Lorna, was one of indiscribable splendor, giving an unobstructed view of the bay. Sunset Cliffs was a most wonderful and magnificent place on the shore of the Pacific Ocean. Mr. Spaulding, a base-ball enthusiast, laid out two hundred fifty thousand dollars on this water front. (He himself, had a mansion and beautiful grounds on high land, overlooking the ocean). There were walks and bridges from cliff to cliff, seats and hedges of ice-plant and flowers all along the way, perhaps a mile or more. We went down into caves that led to the shore, then looked up and saw the cliffs towering high above us. O, it was grand! We spent some time here, then moved on to San Diego. On our way back to the city, we saw a most glorius sunset over the ocean.

That evening we took the train for Los Angeles, arriving there about ten o'clock.

The next morning we decided to visit the world renowned Island of Santa Catalina and view the Submarine Gardens in a glass bottom boat. We boarded an electric car and went to Long Beach, a fashionable resort city by the ocean. It took us three hours to make the trip of thirty-one miles from Long Beach to Catalina, (it was very rough after we got away from the shore). I will not attempt to describe the feelings the ladies on board experienced, but it was decidedly unpleasant. When we arrived at Catalina, there was a glass-bottom boat and guide ready to take us and show us the wonders of the deep. We viewed the kelp forests, long amber streamers waving in the currents, which shelter great black bass, rock bass, leaping tuna, sword fish, the salt water gold fish, and many other kinds. Then we came in sight of mountains and canons and many beautiful kinds of rocks. After a time the guide took us to a level and sandy bottom, where a diver went down thirty feet and picked up beautiful shells. It is said the divers become so skilled that they can bring a coin from the bottom in almost incredible time. After we had viewed the marine gardens, we went ashore to the city of Avalon, which lies in a cozy nest formed by a succession of hills. The island of Catalina is very rugged and mountainous, thirty miles long and eight miles wide, with bungalows built on the sides of the mountain and on top as well.

It was so rough that it took us four hours to make the return trip to Long Beach and it was not any more pleasureable for the ladies and part of the men, than the out-going trip in the morning. However, we lived through it and had a great deal of sport on the car while going to Los Angeles. Things appeared very different when on terra firma.

Early the next morning, November 10, we left the delightful city of Los Angeles for San Francisco, a distance of four hundred seventy-five miles. This was a very enjoyable ride all day. We went on the coast line which followed very closely beside the sea, striking the surf at Ventura and for one hundred fifty miles were never far from it, sometimes we were on the cliffs above the waves, and again running almost on the beach itself, with high mountains on the other side. At other times were in very fruitful valleys and passed through a continuous procession of beautiful towns.

During the afternoon we ascended the Margurita Mountains at a height of thirty-three hundred feet above sea level and passed through many long tunnels. In these mountains we passed over the wonderful "Horseshoe Bend" and often when I looked out of the car windows I saw a head two large engines puffing away, and several cars. After we had passed over the mountains, the country seemed very different, more like our New England country, than any I had seen since leaving home.

was passed by Congress and signed by President Lincoln, February 25, 1863. At that time the Government was sorely in need of funds to carry on the war, and this bill required Banks to take out circulation based on a deposit of Government bonds, thus providing a market for the bonds and funds for the Government, at the same time giving us a safe currency.

The Norway National Bank was chartered under this Act in 1872, forty-four years ago. Though proud of its historical record, this Bank takes greater pride in that it is equipped and conducted for the highest class service to its customers.

YOU NEED A TONIC

Hood's Sarsaparilla, as a Spring Medicine, is the Best.

Spring sickness comes in some degree to every man, woman and child in our climate. It is that run-down condition of the system that results from impure, impoverished, devitalized blood. It is marked by loss of appetite and that tired feeling, and in many cases by some form of eruption.

The best way to treat spring sickness is to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Ask your druggist for this old reliable family medicine. It purifies, enriches and revitalizes the blood. It is an all-the-year-round alterative and tonic, and is absolutely the best Spring medicine.

Get your blood in good condition at once—now. Delay may be dangerous. Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, nothing else can take its place.

A Friend.

O! the blessing it is to have a friend to whom we can speak fearlessly on any subject; with whom one's deepest as well as most foolish thoughts come out simply and safely. O! the comfort, the inexpressible comfort, of feeling safe with a person, having neither to weigh thoughts nor measure words, but pouring them all right out just as they are, chaff and grain together, certain that a faithful hand will take and sift them, keep what is worth keeping, and then with the breath of kindness blow the rest away.

From A Life for a Life, contributed by Granville Fernald.

Feeding In Solitude.

The habit of feeding in solitude—which has received the imprimatur of "Ouida"—would not have commended itself to Addison. The author of "The Spectator"—being a good fellow—was of the opinion that it was company rather than cookery that made a good meal. "As I in everything love what is simple and natural," he wrote, "so particularly in my food; two plain dishes, with two or three good natured, cheerful, ingenious friends, would make me more pleased and vain than all that pomp and luxury can bestow, for it is my maxim that 'he keeps the greatest table who has the most valuable company at it.'"—London Globe.

Hogarth's Escape.

Hogarth, the famous artist, was once arrested in France as a spy. He was in the act of sketching the gate at Calais for the background of his famous picture of that name. He was taken before the governor, who informed him that "if peace had not been signed between France and England a few days previously he would have been hanged on the ramparts." The scene has been perpetuated by Hogarth himself in a picture where he has represented himself as sketching the gate with the hand of a French soldier touching his shoulder. It is also in Frith's picture of "Hogarth Before the Governor of Calais."

A Spinster's Warning.

She may have had experience in matrimony from what she said, but to all outward appearances she was a spinster. She had been sitting in the courtroom of a justice of the peace while he was preparing to marry a couple in his private office. There was too much laughing in the office to suit the spinster, and she let everybody know it.

Finally she had stood the laughing of the bride-to-be long enough, she thought, and she squeaked the following in a high pitched voice:

"Marriage is not to be laughed at. It is a serious thing like going to church."—Indianapolis News.

NORTH LOVELL.

Mrs. Lizzie M. McAllister.

After months of extreme suffering Mrs. Lizzie McAllister passed to the great beyond, March 10. She was a kind neighbor, with a pleasant word for all of her friends and will be greatly missed here, and in the several fraternal societies of which she was a member. The Rebekahs were a great help and comfort to her in her last days. As long as she was able to work she was a helper in all charitable work and her kindness of heart was shown by her request that the money that would have been spent for flowers by her friends should be given to the Odd Fellows' Orphans' Home fund. The funeral service was beautiful and was attended by the Rev. Mr. Fisher of Center Lovell. The burial was in Pine Grove Cemetery.

She was a resident of North Lovell for the past sixteen years, since her marriage to Edgar A. McAllister.

The deceased was best known in Lewiston as the widow of the late Captain Charles C. Witham, having been a resident of that city for more than 20 years, during which time she resided on Park street.

She was the daughter of the late Dr. Abner and Mary J. Foster of Freeman, in which town she was born, 67 years ago, the eldest of a large family of children.

Early in her girlhood, the deceased went to Lewiston, where she met her first husband, Charles C. Witham, whom she married in March, 1867. After their marriage, the couple resided in Dover, and then removed to Chelsea, Mass., where the husband resumed his former sea life, commanding several large vessels, sailing from Boston to foreign ports.

The union was blessed by the birth of three sons, Charles L., Edwin L., and George G. Witham. The eldest and youngest started active newspaper careers in Lewiston, which they have since prosecuted with success in Boston and New York. The other son, Edwin, has been identified with many newspaper projects in various sections of the country.

After the death of her first husband, nearly 35 years ago, Mrs. McAllister went to Lewiston, where she educated her sons, and then it was that she became interested in many fraternal and charitable movements. She was an active member of Custer Relief Corps for many years, prominent in the membership of Fidelity Rebekah Lodge, the United Order Golden Cross and Odd Ladies. After her marriage in 1899, to Edgar McAllister and her subsequent removal to North Lovell, she was one of the organizers and the first Noble Grand of Crystal Valley Rebekah Lodge of North Lovell, later becoming District Deputy. She was also identified with the Grange and the Pythian Sisterhood of East Stoneham.

Throughout Oxford County she was loved and highly respected for her genial loveable character and her unceasing work in the advancement of humanitarian principles, which was emphasized by her dying request that no money be expended for flowers for her funeral, and that all those who would have shown their love by such tokens, send the money to the Odd Fellows' Orphans' Home fund.

Besides her three sons and widower she is survived by one brother, George Foster of Farmington, three sisters, Mrs. Annie Leason of Atkinson, Mrs. Ellen Richards of Farmington and Mrs. Jennie Dimond of Haverhill, Mass., and an aunt, Mrs. Sarah Randall of Farmington.

Death of Solomon Taft Corser.

Oxford County loses a prominent figure in her industrial history in the death of Solomon Taft Corser in Portland, at the age of 84 years. Although a Southern man, having been born in Tedford, Virginia, in 1808, he early (1837) came to Maine and settled in Portland. This was before the days of railroads and he engaged in the stage business. He operated a line of coaches which run between Portland and Bath, Brunswick and Augusta, and also one through Oxford County between Portland and Gorham, New Hampshire.

He early became interested in railroading and an advocate for the Atlantic & St. Lawrence Railroad, to build which was then thought an impossibility. When built he became a conductor and afterwards superintendent and when that road was leased to the Grand Railway Company, he remained as Superintendent. He filled this office for sixteen years between 1847 and 1863.

From the year last mentioned until 1873 he was Railroad Commissioner for the State of Maine.

His next move, in connection with ex-Governor Israel Washburne, Jr., and Hon. S. C. Andrews, both natives of Oxford County, was the reconstruction of the Portland & Oxford Central Railroad, more commonly known as "F. O. J. Smith's stump of a road," which name they changed to Rumford Falls & Buckfield Railroad. This road which had dwindled from a fair condition to one in which the rolling stock was unfit to ride in and the bridges unsafe was finally abandoned, and bushes grew between the sleepers and all that resembled a railroad was two streaks of rusty iron. This road was rebuilt and re-equipped and as Mr. Corser was the first Superintendent, the County is largely indebted to him for the opening up of that part of our country.

BRYANT'S POND

About seventeen members of West Paris Grange braved the weather and visited Franklin Grange at the regular meeting, March 18. The forenoon session was taken up by the regular business meeting of Franklin Grange and a discussion of the question "Preparedness" by several members of the two granges. After the usual baked bean dinner of the noon hour, the meeting was again called to order and a short program of musical selections, songs and recitations carried out, followed by more discussions of the Preparedness question. Franklin and West Paris Granges are old neighbors who frequently visit each other and while we were handicapped by the weather and sickness among the members, we sincerely hope the members of West Paris enjoyed themselves so that they will want to visit us again.

Lendall B. Yates, who lost his farm buildings and stock by fire in February met with another misfortune last Thursday, when one of his big work horses broke its leg in the woods and had to be killed. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Yates, who seems to be having more than his share of troubles this winter.

A. M. Whitman and family, who have been living in the camp at the Yates farm this winter, will soon move to their farm near Greenwood city.

Spring has come! One crow has been seen slowly flapping over the snow with both feet frozen and so exhausted he could not even squawk. The poets speak of the "blue of February melting into the dawn of Spring," but this year instead of melting "it froze" into perhaps the coldest dawn of spring ever known with the mercury hardly rising from the zero mark. Here's hoping, now old Sol has crossed the line he will warm us up a little.

A FAD OF SUMMER.

Crocheting and tatting, which for the past season or two have been so much the pastime, bids fair to be displaced by the new art known as crepe rope. It is certainly as fascinating as it can be and delights all who take it up. Once baskets were baskets, just sewing baskets. Now they are all these and then some—sandwich baskets, cake baskets, tea trays, coasters, nut dishes, lamp frames, vase holders, hat-pin holders and most everything else that woman can devise out of crepe paper rope.

Yes it is really only paper twisted like rope, and you weave it and shape it just as they used to weave reed and raffia, only crepe paper, being so soft and pliable is much more easily worked; hence, the great variety of articles into which it may be fashioned. This rope of crepe paper comes in hanks thirty-six feet long in three sizes, one-sixteenth inch, one-eighth inch, one-fourth inch, and in fourteen colors. It sells usually for 10, 15 and 35 cents a hank. When woven you can hardly realize it is crepe paper, so strong and firm does it seem. Often, too it is shellacked, which process makes it almost as hard as wood. More often, though, it is used in the nautral wood brown or grass green. A very light yellow shade is lovely when a delicate knotted stitch is used.

One work basket of this color and stitch had an old rose lining and the combination was beautiful. Fashion has set its seal this season on hand woven products. Everywhere one sees the prettiest of articles with frame or covering of this work. Most of it, however, is very expensive, as all handwork must be. You need not pay these prices though, if you have a little spare time.

Nearly all of the department stores now carry the crepe paper rope. The work is pleasant and interesting, the crepe paper rope products are really beautiful and it is such a satisfaction to obtain them at so little cost. No wonder the art has developed into a genuine craze in many cities.

HOME NURSING.

There are few women who are not called upon at some time to care for the sick. The importance of good nursing cannot be overestimated. In many cases the recovery of the patient demands more upon the care in nursing and in following the doctor's instructions than in medical skill. Nursing is not done by instinct, although instinct often helps, but it is done by thorough knowledge.

The things necessary for health are: (1) Pure air—for impure air brings about a devitalized condition of the body, which makes it susceptible to disease; (2) sunshine and light; (3) proper food which has been well cooked and thoroughly masticated; (4) rest, recreation and exercise; (5) cleanliness.

In the sick room, good air should be had day and night. This should be carefully adjusted to avoid direct drafts. As much sunlight should be let into the room as the patient can stand, but it should be properly tempered to suit each individual case. Sunlight increases the vitality of the patient and decreases the vitality of disease germs.

The temperature of the sick room should be a little lower than in an ordinary living-room. In certain diseases, such as pneumonia, typhoid fever and tuberculosis, the windows are kept wide open.

Cleanliness is absolutely essestial, both in the sick room itself and in the personal care of the patient. For this reason, dust-collecting non-essentials should be taken out of the room. Quiet and cheerfulness are necessary to help the patient to recovery.

The common symptoms of illness, or of an abnormal condition in the body, are: Headache, aching back and limbs nausea, coated tongue, diarrhoea, cough, irritability of temper and listlessness, sore throat, or fever. If any of these are observed in members of one's family some step should be taken at once to relieve the condition. A safe thing to do is to give a hot bath and put the person to bed, following this treatment with a dose of castor oil, if necessary. If any symtom does not yield at once to home treatment, a good doctor should be consulted. This saves time and strength and often money.

Horace Greeley Surprised.

This reminds us of a story told of Horace Greeley. One morning on his way to the office he was accosted by a man who exclaimed, "I have been down and stopped your old paper."

Horace said, "I am sorry to have the paper stopped," and went on. The next morning he met the same man, and hailed him with, "You told me yesterday that you had stopped my paper. When I reached the office I found everything going on as usual. The paper did not stop, it was printed yesterday. You must have been mistaken when you said you had stopped it."

Women Once Invalids

Now in Good Health Through Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Say it is Household Necessity. Doctor Called it a Miracle.

All women ought to know the wonderful effects of taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound even on those who seem hopelessly ill. Here are three actual cases:

Harrisburg, Penn.—"When I was single I suffered a great deal from female weakness because my work compelled me to stand all day. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for that and was made stronger by its use. After I was married I took the Compound again for a female trouble and after three months I passed what the doctor called a growth. He said it was a miracle that it came away as one generally goes under the knife to have them removed. I never want to be without your Compound in the house."—Mrs. Frank Knobl, 1642 Fulton St., Harrisburg, Penn.

Hardly Able to Move.

Albert Lea, Minn.—"For about a year I had sharp pains across my back and hips and was hardly able to move around the house. My head would ache and I was dizzy and had no appetite. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, I am feeling stronger than for years. I have a little boy eight months old and am doing my work all alone. I would not be without your remedies in the house as there are none like them."—Mrs. F. E. Yost, 611 Water St., Albert Lea, Minn.

Three Doctors Gave Her Up.

Pittsburg, Penn.—"Your medicine has helped me wonderfully. When I was a girl 18 years old I was always sickly and delicate and suffered from irregularities. Three doctors gave me up and said I would go into consumption. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and with the third bottle began to feel better. I soon became regular and I got strong and shortly after I was married. Now I have two nice stout healthy children and am able to work hard every day."—Mrs. Clementina Duerring, 34 Gardner St., Troy Hill, Pittsburg, Penn.

WEST MINOT

A Native of Minot.

Prof. Frederick C. Robertson of Boston, a native of Minot, died on March 1 at the hospital, where he has for a long time been under treatment.

He was the son of Osgood and Louisa Hayes Robertson of Minot Center, born March 12, 1848. In his boyhood he attended the public schools here, later going to Hebron Academy and to what is now E. L. H. S., fitting for college, entering Emherst, teaching vacations to carry himself through.

After leaving Amherst he took up the study of oratory with Prof. Monroe of Boston, soon taking rank among the foremost teachers of this art. Although he had finished but half the course when he left Amherst, his Alma Mater in view of his distinction as a teacher in this art, bestowed upon him the honorary degree of M. A.

Prof. Robertson was a man of broad sympathies, kindly helpful and generous to a fault.

Late in the seventies he had a very serious illness from which he never fully recovered, though he did some good work after and visited Jerusalem, Switzerland and other parts of Europe. In later life his health became more precarious and his last years were spent in the hospital where he died. Interment was at Minot Center cemetery.

HARRISON.

The Lovell Dramatic Club gave their drama "The Frozen Trail" in Lakeside Grange Hall, on Thursday evening of last week. In spite of bad traveling they had a good house, and gave a very good play, the different parts being very well taken.

Mrs. Frank P. Bennett was the guest of her father, Charles Ordway, in Denmark, the past week.

Mrs. Louise Foster was in Bridgton, Wednesday.

Josephine M. Dawes from Portand was the guest the past week for several days of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leamon Dawes, on Main street.

Frank Stone visited for several days last week with his brother, Cyrus Stone, of Spurr's Corner, Otisfield.

Lakeside Grange have decided to hold their Circle supper, entertainment, etc., on Wednesday evening of this week. One of the enjoyable features of the entertainment will be the farce, "Lucy's Old Man," with the following cast of characters:

Mrs. Amanda Monroe, a match-making mother. Mrs. Elsie Stevens
Miss Eleanor Monroe, the daughter Gladys Witham
Miss Lucy Plympton, Mrs. Monroe's niece, ... Jennie Little
Erastus Anderson, a wide-awake visitor Arthur Smith
Billy Huffnagle, a Dutchman, Harry E. Smith

The Harrison Driving Club held a banquet at Elms Inn, Saturday evening, and afterward attended the movies in Grange Hall. Covers were laid for thirty-four and nearly all the members were present. Mrs. Kneeland of the Inn was the caterer, and it goes without saying that everything was of the best.

Dr. James P. Blake is suffering from a lame knee, caused by the misplacement of the knee-cap.

William L. Grover, who has been quite ill, is much improved, and his friends will be glad to learn that he is able to get around the house and out to the stable.

Mrs. Andrew R. Wheeler is seemingly a good deal better, but not able as yet to be up and dressed. She has been ill in bed for the past three weeks.

F. Perley Freeman, our popular druggist, is doing quite a chicken business, already. He has seven chicks, some weeks old, and an incubator full hatching at the present writing. He has also bought 100 day-old chicks from a party in Buckfield, and this all goes to show that our druggist is a hustler.

SOUTH ALBANY.

Frank McAllister has finished cutting timber for Merritt Sawin and has gone to work for Irving Greene at North Waterford. Hermon Holt has got the timber all hauled and is logging for himself.

The roads were so badly drifted last Saturday, that Charles York was unable to get to his work in the spool mill at Lynchville, until after the roads were broken out.

John McAllister, who is at work in Kilgore's mill at North Albany, got stuck in the snow on his way home and had to leave his team and go for help to shovel the horses out. He has now returned to his work in that place.

Helen and Della Holt who have been visiting their grandfather, Merritt Sawin for a few days, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Will McAllister recently visited friends and relatives at Stoneham.

Guy Patterson, who lost his pet rabbit some time ago, has recently caught one which seems to be the same one, as he has identified it by a missing toe, but on Sunday morning he escaped in the same way again and has not been recaptured as yet.

And now the "ground hoggers" are trying to lay the blame of our rough weather on to leap year and say that Mr. Ground hog wasn't expected to go back into the hole for fair weather as usual and it seems as though it was supposed that Mrs. Ground hog should have invited him back as though it were a leap year ball. Of course Old Adam over again! Lay all the blame on the feminine side of the house! Well they should be able to bear it as their shoulders are well tested. The woman is to blame always. What would they think of next? Now some one else speak. We hope Mr. Crow will bring his over coat with him next time as when he has once come we do not like to have him go back. We miss his black body and there is nothing so spring like when the ground is covered with snow as his familiar caw! caw! even if later it does turn to corn! corn!

Mr. and Mrs. Merton Kimball and baby, Edna, who have been visiting at Mr. Kimball's home here, have gone to visit Mr. Kimball's family at South Waterford. Mr. Kimball has finished his winter's work for Arthur Millett at Waterford and has moved away from Plummer Hill.

Berkeley and Lowell Henley have a two year old heifer which they are breaking to harness and they are having some swift rides behind her as she is a good sized heifer and prettly lively.
